developed by Clint Goss

The chart displays musical notation and fingering diagrams for a six-hole Native American flute. The notes are organized into three rows:

Below each note is a fingering diagram showing a vertical flute with six holes. Filled circles indicate finger placement, and open circles indicate holes that are not covered.
- Row 2: Fifth, Seventh, Octave. Each note is shown on a treble clef staff with a key signature of three sharps. Below each note is a fingering diagram.
- Row 3: Minor Tenth. Each note is shown on a treble clef staff with a key signature of three sharps. Below each note is a fingering diagram.
